SIANA CONSERVANCY

Siana Conservancy

Siana Conservancy offers you access to one of the most world renowned eco systems. Bordering the Masai Mara National Reserve the aim is to preserve the surrounding wildlife and the culture of the Maasai Community.

The conservancy covers an area of 35,000 acres and benefits over 5,000 local families within the community. We happen to be one of those members of the conservancy as well and Dennis, co-owner of Oseki Camp, is also one of the main community leaders of the area.

The Siana conservancy benefits to the Nkoilale community include direct employment for rangers and staff members within the Siana Conservancy. A part of the fee is also distributed between the local community, the management of the Siana Conservancy and the protection of the diverse wildlife. This sustainable approach to conservation, is really important to us as Oseki Mara Camp.

The World Wildlife Fund (WWF) have been instrumental in the creation and sustainability of the Siana Conservancy. With the support of funds raised by WWF, Siana has been able to employ and train rangers allowing the protection of this crucial elephant breeding area. This has allowed for a flourishing habitat for the diverse wildlife. WWF involvement has also been instrumental in the protection of the flora and fauna.
